

Welcome to Lesaris, where creativity and professionalism is our hallmark. Whether you furnish your own design or choose from a wide variety of our unique custom designs, our staff will assist you with professionalism and integrity.

We introduce a wide range of construction options. Our custom homes are built from your plan and specifications. Our semi-custom homes start with our plan and standard specifications with the ability to customize for your specific needs. All our homes can be built on our lot or yours. We have designers available to help you from beginning to end.

John Walz, President of Lesaris LLC, began building in 1972. His background ranges from multi-million dollar custom homes to more affordable homes. With his vast experience, he continues to build for the future and presents a committed style of excellence with an impressive list of satisfied customers.

Our goal is to build your home combining your unique style and our experienced building staff. Many options are available to you. Together we can build your dream. Let us create a home that is uniquely yours.

What a few of John Walz's customer's have to say:

Working with John Walz was a very positive experience from beginning to end. John's professionalism, creativity and patience were an absolute bonus. We could not be more pleased with our new home and how the whole building process went. Another positive comment to working closely with John is that, when all was finished, we can to this day call him our friend.

-Jim and Roxanne Waechter

The quality and professionalism of John and his building team was excellent. His staff watched and followed up on all the details, providing us an exceptional custom home. For us, as I am sure for others, this was a big purchase, which really made us appreciate the honesty and integrity that John brings in the process, making it a fun experience.

-John and Melissa Moore

The level of quality and attention to construction detail is wonderful. The vendors and craftspeople that John employs reflect his high standards and build his houses in a way that is above the rest. We consider ourselves lucky to have worked with John and his team as they helped guide us through this complicated and important process.

-David and Lindsay Ordway

Our experience with John has been excellent. I found him to be of the highest integrity and his loyalty to subcontractors, suppliers etc. is consistent and admirable. I have the utmost confidence in and respect for John Walz and have not hesitated to refer potential clients to him over the years. I am pleased to recommend John Walz, both as a person and as a general contractor.
